About Yourself:

Hello, my name is Abraham. I have an Associate of Science in Biology- Pre-Veterinary, and I'm currently pursuing a Bachelor of Science in Wildlife. I recently declared a minor in anthropology which I'm very excited about. I'm interested in land mammals, marine mammals, and reptiles.

Career Experiences:

Over the summer I had the opportunity to be an intern for the USDA/APHIS/Wildlife Services. I participated in a project dealing with the spatial ecology of gray foxes, comparing space use & habitat selection between two populations of foxes in southeastern AZ. Additionally I volunteered in an endangered red squirrel project by the University of Arizona, and an elk project by Arizona Game and Fish. Currently I work under a graduate student identifying and cataloging data from his camera study.

Skills:

Live Animal Trapping, Camera Trapping, CPW Photo Warehouse, Radio Telemetry, Compass Bearings, Wildlife Collaring, Robel Pole, Spherical Crown Densimeter, Venomous Reptile Handling, Duck Banding, Belay Certified, GPS, Bilingual: Spanish & English

Accomplishments/ Clubs/ other:

- NRCT Member
- Crimson Scholar
- Joe Skeen Scholar
- Aggie Camp 2017 Director
- Aggie Camp 2016 Associate Director
- 2015-2016 Outstanding New RA of the Year
- National Residence Hall Honorary
- Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society

Plans after Graduation:

Once I graduate my goal is to land a job with a federal agency. In case that I do not get a job within a reasonable time frame, I plan to become a wildlife conversation volunteer abroad for a short period of time as I keep job searching. Eventually depending on where my career takes me, graduate school may be a possibility.
